(*) The monumental, historical, cultural, entertainment and tourist complex Mogoşoaia is a Public Cultural Institution under the authority of the General Council of Bucharest. It lies in the homonymous village in Ilfov County, located about 12 km away from downtown Bucharest.

Currently the area is composed of: Mogoșoaia Palace, which now houses the Brâncovenesc Art Museum with exhibits of valuable paintings and sculptures (a collection totaling about 300 pieces), Cuhnia (the royal kitchen), the watchtower and the Târgoviște Gate, a residence and conference center, a restaurant, the Glacier (which served to store ice), the park with Italian-style gardens, a church dedicated to St. George built by Constantin Brâncoveanu in 1688, the Chapel Gh. Bibescu (which houses the tombs of the former owners of Mogoșoaia and of their relatives: Prince Nicolae G. Bibescu and his wife Helene Louise Ney d'Elchingen, Prince George Bibescu and his wife, Valentine de Caraman Chimay, Princess Elisabeth Bibescu and Princes Mihai Basarab Brâncoveanu and George Basarab Brâncoveanu).

The Royal Court Mogoșoaia was attested by the end of the 17th century. Mogoșoaia Palace was built in 1702 by Constantin Brâncoveanu, Prince of Wallachia between 1688 and 1714. The complex belongs to the brâncovenesc architectural style (a typical Romanian architectural style).
